

Project Brief: Personal Photography Site

For my final project I would like to create a personal Photography site. I will showcase my photography by taking photos of a variety of places in downtown Detroit and surrounding cities. My photos will capture what I believe to be the spirit of Detroit. I will also capture exciting events that may be happening in the area and other interesting places to visit. The site would be a guide for those that would like to visit the city but aren't sure of places to visit. My client would be myself and people who are interested in the art and culture of the area. The site should feature a variety of street art and events for the City of Detroit. It should be photo centric and easy to navigate, while also incorporating a simple layout with vibrant colors to show the City in a positive light.
